Prior to Real Estate, Adam enjoyed success in multiple and simultaneous careers, ranging from wine consulting to home renovation. His varied projects and enterprises included restaurant management, wine education and marketing, inn-keeping, carpentry and building. Throughout, and at the center of it all, has been a genuine sense of customer service.

Adam's extensive hands-on experience restoring heritage homes, gives him an intuitive sense of the hidden potential of properties in the historic seaside communities of Nova Scotia's South Shore. Adam is keen to utilize his background to help Buyers find that hidden gem, or assist Sellers realize the potential of their distinctive property.

Adam, along with wife and partner, Cindy, consider themselves not just Realtors, but ambassadors of their area, and are thrilled to share the joys of living on the South Shore with newcomers.
