A long time South Shore resident, Cindy Dial brings a deep appreciation of the area's rich history, culture, and fine architecture to her work in Real Estate.

Cindy has an extensive creative and entrepreneurial background ranging from clothing design to restoration of heritage properties. She understands the South Shore tourism/accommodation market, having restored and operated her own 4.5 star historic inn. Cindy's flare for interior design and her hands-on experience with heritage properties in Lunenburg has made her a sought after color and design consultant. She has managed a number of historic home renovation projects including the reconstruction of Boatbuilder's Cottage, a charming timber-frame reproduction of a 19th century boatbuilding shop, now a seasonal guest house.

Cindy's love and dedication to the area she calls home has led her to initiate a number of community art projects involving Lunenburg's youth, encouraging them to see and value the beauty of their surroundings. Cindy enthusiastically applies her skills and talents to assisting clients looking for their own Lunenburg gem, as well as those who must reluctantly part with theirs.
